BELGIUM'S EUROPALIA 1991 FEATURES PORTUGAL

For the past twenty years, Europalia has successfully showcased Europe's diversity by presenting successively the cultural patrimony of Italy, the Netherlands, Great Britain, France, Germany, Belgium, Greece, Spain and Austria. While 1989 featured Japan, the focus returns to Europe in 1991 with Portugal as the favored nation.

Between September 19 and December 19, Portugal will present a panorama of its culture in a broad array of special events. Some twenty exhibitions, more than fifty concerts with orchestras and soloists of great renown, dance, theatre, world premieres of opera and film, a cinema retrospective, a major excursion into literature, symposia, happenings and an extensive program of radio and television broadcasts will limn Portuguese culture past and present.

Portugal has maintained its borders since the 12th century and was the first to have started exploring the rest of the planet under the aegis of Henry the Navigator. Belgium's historic links to Portugal were especially strong during the Burgundian period when the Infanta Isabella married Philip the Good.

The most ambitious exhibitions will take place at the Palais des Beaux-Arts in Brussels with a survey of 18th century Portuguese Baroque. Other exhibitions throughout Belgium will show the role of monasteries, a fascination with Flemish art that started in the late 14th century, the great geographic discoveries, and azulejos, the ceramic tiles that decorate palaces and farms throughout the land.

In the area of music, performances will cover polyphonic, Renaissance, the baroque, contemporary works and folk music. World famous pianists Maria Joao Pires and Artur Pizaro will be among soloists giving recitals. The prestigious Ballet Gulbenkian will perform in Brussels, and a wide-ranging panorama will display the work of Portugal's best young choreographers and dancers.

Information on Europalia can be obtained at the arrival hall in Brussels National Airport, from the Tourist Information Office or by telephone in Brussels at: 507.85.94.

FRANCORCHAMPS CELEBRATES 24 HOURS LOTTO-TROPHY AUG. 1-4, 1991

In order to avoid competition with the Francorchamps Formula I Grand Prix which will be run August 23, 24 and 25, 1991 the "Lotto Trophy", "European Community Challenge" will be run at Francorchamps, Belgium commencing at 4:00 PM, Saturday, August 3 and culminating at 4:00 PM, Sunday, August 4.

The track will be ready for test drives and be open free to the public on Thursday, August 1. Additionally, the "Euro Fair" of non-stop entertainment including a festival of music, skeet- shooting, hot air balloons, parachuting and fireworks will be accessible for everyone during the training sessions on August 1 and 2.

A number of side races (Peugeot 309, Renault Clio and Konica Historic Trophy) will precede the start of the 24 Hours race. And for the first time all cars will have to drive with unleaded gasoline.

This year the race will be open to cars of the A FISA group (former European championship), for the N FISA groups (series models) and for the "Procars", which are competing successfully in the Belgian circuit championship. In order to avoid the large differences in power between the different cars, the German DTM group will not participate anymore. Among top class drivers scheduled to be on hand are: Ravaglia, Pirro, Van de Poele, Joosen, Beguin, Martin, Olofsson, Hattori and Voltech.

Entrance fees for Saturday and Sunday for adults are 1,000 Belgian Francs at the cash desk, and 850 BF in advance sale. Admission for young people ages 12 to 18 is 250 BF.

1991 SOUND AND LIGHT SHOWS ON BRUSSELS' GRAND'PLACE

For the 1991 Sound and Light shows on Brussels' Grand'Place, a technical innovation is being introduced that includes music along with the floodlit facades. From the present to September 30 the light show will be shown free every evening at 10:30 PM. In recognition of "Mozart Year", the accompanying music will feature a series of short pieces by the great Austrian composer.

Once nightly the Light Show, without sound mix or spoken message will be performed on the following dates: June 15 to July 16 at 11:00 PM; July 17 to August 13 at 10:30 PM; August 14 to September 10 at 10:00 PM; and from September 11 to 30 at 9:30 PM.

Thirty new bronze and copper street lights have been installed on the Grand'Place, replacing the former less brilliant lampposts. The ancient "historical" street lights will be put up for public auction in September after the closing of an exhibition on public lighting.

OSTEND MODERN ART MUSEUM SHOWS COBRA/POST-COBRA EXHIBITION JUL.7-OCT.14, 1991

COBRA for, Copenhagen, Brusseles, Amsterdam, the founders home countries was founded in 1948 by a group of artists concerned with vitalism and the elimination of obsolete norms along with a focus on art having its roots with people and taking an interest in children's drawing due to their propensity for seeing and expressing their environment in a forthright and sincere fashion.

The group disbanded in 1951 and in celebration of its 40th anniversary Provincial Museum for Modern Art in Ostend, Belgium will offer an Exhibition of COBRA and POST-COBRA artists, who can be considered followers of this historic movement, among them Jorn, Dotremont, Noiret, Appel, Constant, Corneille, Pedersen, Jacobsen, Heerup and Alechinsky. By means of important works, the exhibition intends to draw an extensive picture of the artists' artistic significance.

Although 1948-1951 is the point of departure, the exhibit running from July 7 to October 14, 1991 will shed light on the evolution of the COBRA members through the 1960s and 1970s as well. Ostend's Provincial Museum for Modern Art will be the arbiter of the composition of the exhibition. Works from Belgian national and foreign museums will be on display as well as works belonging to private collectors, who are contributing to the exhibition. Some of the works to be shown have seldom or never been on public display. In this respect, the main focus will be on the quality and artistic significance of the works of art.

The Provincial Museum of Modern Art is located at Romestraat 11, in Ostend, Belgium. Tel: 059/50.81.18 or 051/50.19.79.

HORTA PAVILION IN BRUSSELS REOPEN TO THE PUBLIC

The Horta Pavilion in the Royal Museums for Art and History in Brussels' Cinquantenaire Park has been reopened to the public after having been closed for many years.

The Pavilion built by the famous Art-Nouveau artist, Victor Horta, was better known and mainly more famous for its contents; a marble relief by Jef Lambeau entitled "Human Passion". It's an allegorical depiction in which death triumphs over suffering and happiness. It was long considered too morbid and obscene for public display; however, with today's more permissive standards, the Horta Pavilion can be visited from 10:00 AM to 4:30 PM on the Sundays of June 16, July 7 and 21, August 4 and 18 and September 1 and 15. The Royal Museums for Art and History are located at Jubelpark 10, 1040 Brussels, tel. :02/741.72.11.

SEPTEMBER 15, 1991 DESIGNATED "OPEN MONUMENTS DAY" IN BRUSSELS

For the third successive year, the organizers of "Open Monuments Day" in Brussels have arranged for many, mostly protected, buildings not ordinarily available for public visit, to be open, free of charge, on September 15, 1991. Inasmuch as 1991 has been designated as the Year of Mozart, the Open Monuments Day theme is music. Consequently, the focus will be on buildings with historic concert rooms and other connections with music.

For further information contact: Secretariaat Koning Boudewijnstichting, Brederodestraat 21, 1000 Brussels, BELGIUM. Tel: 02/511.18.40.

BRUSSELS RANKS THIRD WORLD-WIDE IN CONVENTION CITY POPULARITY

The recently published yearly world-statistics on international meetings in 1990 by the Union of International Associations (UTA) ranks Brussels third in popularity after Paris and London as a Meeting and Convention destination.

Of these "top 3" only Brussels booked an increase compared to 1989. In the ranking of countries, Belgium maintains a solid 8th position for the world total of international congresses. Together with Switzerland, Belgium is the only other country of the top 8 to increase its share relative to 1989.

In 1990 Belgium hosted 303 International meetings, which reflects an increase of 7% over 1989 and 9% compared to 1988. These figures confirm the role played by Belgium as the center of Europe, and by Brussels as the "capital" of Europe.

PORTUGUESE ARMS ON DISPLAY AT THE ARMS MUSEUM OF LIEGE, BELGIUM UNTIL NOVEMBER 24, 1991

The Arms Museum of Liege, Belgium, founded in 1885, is one of the most important in the world, in this specialty, containing 13,000 pieces. Liege, itself, is an old armourer's center and the museum also contains an important collection of medals as well as civil and military orders.

Until November 24, 1991, the museum will offer a world premiere exhibition 'Prestige of the Portuguese Armoury'. The objects to be exhibited (almost 250) will come from private Belgian and Portuguese collections, mainly from the prestigious collection Daenhardt in Lisbon, from the Arms Museum of Liege and the Societe Browning. The items to be shown include : the most prestigious hunting weapons of Portuguese kings and Brazilian emperors; blade weapons and firearms, powder horns, decorations and various objects belonging to famous persons; civil and military arms from Lisbon, Porto, Braga, Barcarena, Viana, Goa, Brazil; old tools and instruments belonging to the armoury of Portugal; arms with very special forms, furnished by the Liege armourer to Portugal, to Brazil and in Africa from the 18th century to the present; old documents about relations between Liege and the Portuguese empire concerning weapons; maps, plans, engravings and handiwork pertaining to the Portuguese empire and to the important geographical discoveries by the Portuguese.

Although the exhibition is almost entirely devoted to arms, they are placed in their political and social contexts and this creates an ideal opportunity to reflect on the history of Portugal and its empire, and world history. Visitors will experience the great events of the past with their present consequences.

Guided visits are organized at a fixed schedule and on request. A comprehensive catalogue can be purchased in the museum; it is remarkable for its novelty and the elaborateness of the subject dealt with.

The Arms Museum of Liege is located at 8 Quai de Maastricht, 4000 Liege, tel. 01132/41-23.31.78, in a beautiful Louis XVI style building with an elegant inner court. It is the perfect prestige surrounding for this prestigious collection.
